Guest Speaker: Former NBA player Willie Naulls

Naulls captained his basketball team at UCLA, became its most valuable player, and then earned an All-American selection in 1956. After college, Naulls played for the New York Knicks in six-plus stand-out seasons. He earned four NBA All-Star berths and became the first African-American team captain in the history of integrated professional sports. He later played four seasons with the Boston Celtics, where he won three world championships. After his illustrious sports career, Willie Naulls came to understand his mother's teachings about faith in a whole new way through a fresh encounter with God on the 405 freeway. He started Willie Naulls Ministries, a Christ-centered ministry that inspires young people by teaching hope and promoting a balanced awareness of the importance of academic, physical, and spiritual achievement. Naulls has also written five books that chronicle his spiritual journey and publishes a weekly newsletter.
